My dear Mr. Narayanan,

I am now here in connection with the Cochin Harbour Conference which has been going on since the 11th Nov.

The Mysore District has been conferring with some of its distinguished officers - retired and in service.
May I request you kindly to let me know

1. The names of the Mts. who have conferred
2. On whom they have been respectively conferred
- and 3. The particular kind of badge or decoration, if any, distinguishing each title?

Please send the reply to me to Ernakulam, as I am leaving this on the 15th Nov. I trust you will not mind the trouble
I am giving you. I now thank you very much for the information.
Hoping you are very well & with best regards

Yours sincerely
T. Narayanan

Chief Secretary to the Government of Cochin, Ernakulam.

Dear Sir...

Mr. K.V. Anantaraman has passed on to me your letter dated the 13th instant asking for some information regarding the titles conferred in Mysore.

A list of the persons on whom titles have been awarded by His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore and the name of the title conferred on each, are given on pages 133 to 138 of the Mysore Civil List a copy of which has been sent by separate packet. Titles are conferred not only on high officers of Government who have served the State with conspicuous ability, but also on distinguished scholars, public workers and philanthropists who have rendered meritorious public services deserving of special recognition.

Each title-holder is given a jewel made of gold inlaid with gems (diamonds, rubies, emeralds, pearls) and bearing the insignia of the Mysore Royal House (Gandabherunda), along with suitable khillats. The value of the jewel presented varies with the class of title, of which there are four (A, B, C. D.) The jewels are in the form of a necklace with a pendant, except in respect of awards to Oriental Scholars in whose case a jewelled bangle is presented.

The name of the title is specifically chosen on each occasion so as to suit the particular services of the individual concerned.

Yours sincerely,

Chief Secretary.

T. S. NARAYANA AYYAR, M. A., B. L.,
Secretary to Government of Cochin.
